Excerpt: .Account therewith, payment being made to the contractor on the Certificate of the Engineer, as in the former method. It may be argued in favour of the first method that not until the Certificate of the Engineer has been issued is there any sum due to the contractor; on the other hand, it is contended that immediately the contract has been executed the liability on the part of the Council has been incurred. To more clearly illustrate the difference between the two methods, we will assume that the Council have entered into a contract with John Brown for the erection of, say, a refuse destructor, at a cost of, 3,500, that up to the end of the financial year three certificates have been issued by the Engineer for 400, 300, and. 500 respectively, which amounts have been paid to the contractor; by the former...
